

If you are an organiser of events, or have a team that needs training, you will know the skill of lead generation is vital for everyone and is very popular, simply because people do not know how to get ongoing leads, and this causes fear.

If your team wants to be entertained while learning this high level skill, then they will love this workshop. No more fear, quicker and more qualified, everyone wins.

Well you know how we do not get paid until we can get in front of more prospects, which means we need the leads first, and you and I know what happens when we have no one to prospect, call or email.

You can try and buy expensive unqualified leads which you waste time, your hard earned cash and pride when your prospects are not interested.

There are 2 types of people in the world, those who are trained in the skill and process of getting a constant flow of ongoing leads, which will create a tap flowing with leads, or those who hope the phone will ring. This is the difference between being proactive or reactive.

If you want to get more qualified leads more easily and quickly without rejection then let me share with you what you will get when you hear me speak I will give you the same process I used 15 years ago which is still my best process of people saying please call me.....

How to create a lead generation machine, so people contact you while you sleep.

How to qualify leads, so you do not waste your valuable time.

How to build solid trust in seconds with potential clients

How to turn control the flow of leads, so you can handle the prospects

I will teach you word for word exactly what to say to overcome the fear for life.

In a highly entertaining, fast moving presentation with interactive communication, which motivates everyone to want to use these skills and develop a process immediately, straight after I have spoken you will be able to get started.

That uncomfortable feeling in the pit of your stomach will disappear for life when know you do not have to buy leads, or advertise again, and you will get new business more easily, learn this skill in only one presentation, workshop or one to one session for life. I realise you could have a program, but this process has worked for me and thousands of others.

So what is going to be easier for you? Miss out on all that income being untrained and lacking the knowledge on how to create leads? Or learn this skill in just one presentation and sort this painful problem out for life.

My name is Bernie De Souza helping you to get more clients more easily and more often without even selling.
